1958
YEARBOOK

of the Shipley School

Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

SALLY LAWSON BURROWES

Those girls who have known Mrs. Burrowes have gained more than a knowledge of biology; they have developed a more sound, mature attitude toward life. As Faculty representative to Council this year, she has stimulated its work with a quick grasp of the situation, undaunted energy, and an ever-present warm humor. Mrs. Burrowes' desire to learn as well as to teach will long be remembered by the girls who have known her personal interest and have taken part in her open class discussions, in which they could express themselves, and were taught to understand and respect the opinions of their fellow men.

Dedication

KATHERINE ELIZABETH READ

Ever since we studied Ancient History under Miss Read in Class IV, quiet understanding and patience are the qualities which we have always associated with her. One of the most energetic members of the Faculty, she finds time in her busy day not only to head the English Department but to supervise the Compass as well. During the flu epidemic, she was constantly performing services which, although unostentatious, were greatly appreciated by those who felt the warmth of her kindness. Miss Read has respect for each girl's ideas, and at the same time guides her students toward a realization of the true meaning of education.

HELEN HAWTHORNE YOUNG

The Class of 1958 records its lasting appreciation of Miss Young, whose wise heart radiated life, love, and understanding.

We're not the bluest blood in the country——
Species various and sundry:

Seldom depressed, we've made the grade,
We're riding the crest our escapades
Could never suppress——
A part of Fifty-eight.

Scandals risqué in history class,
But Jackson and Clay could not surpass
The brilliant display
Of Shipley Fifty-eight.

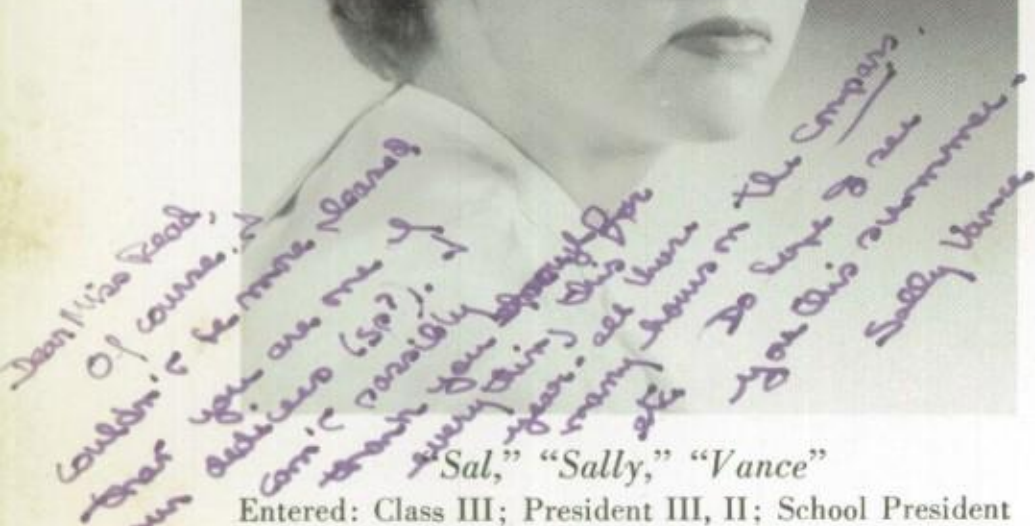

Midnight oil burnt,
Lessons learnt;
Still we found a time to hack and sack it.

Sport queens a few, robust, alive,
Ravaged by flu but we survived;
And when this year's through
We'll still be Brown and Blue.

New York on stage
Was the rage,
College boards that tried to make or break us.

When June's at hand we'll graduate,
All this has been grand and now
we state:
United we stand,
The Class of Fifty-eight.

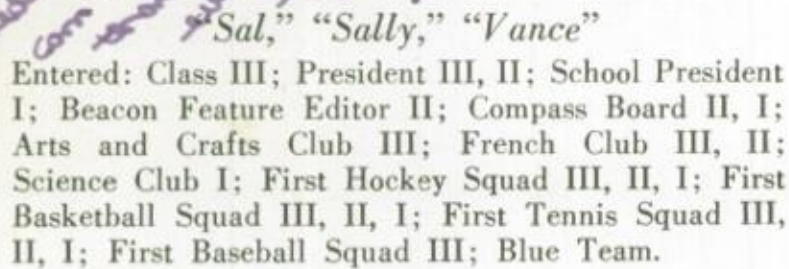

SENIORS

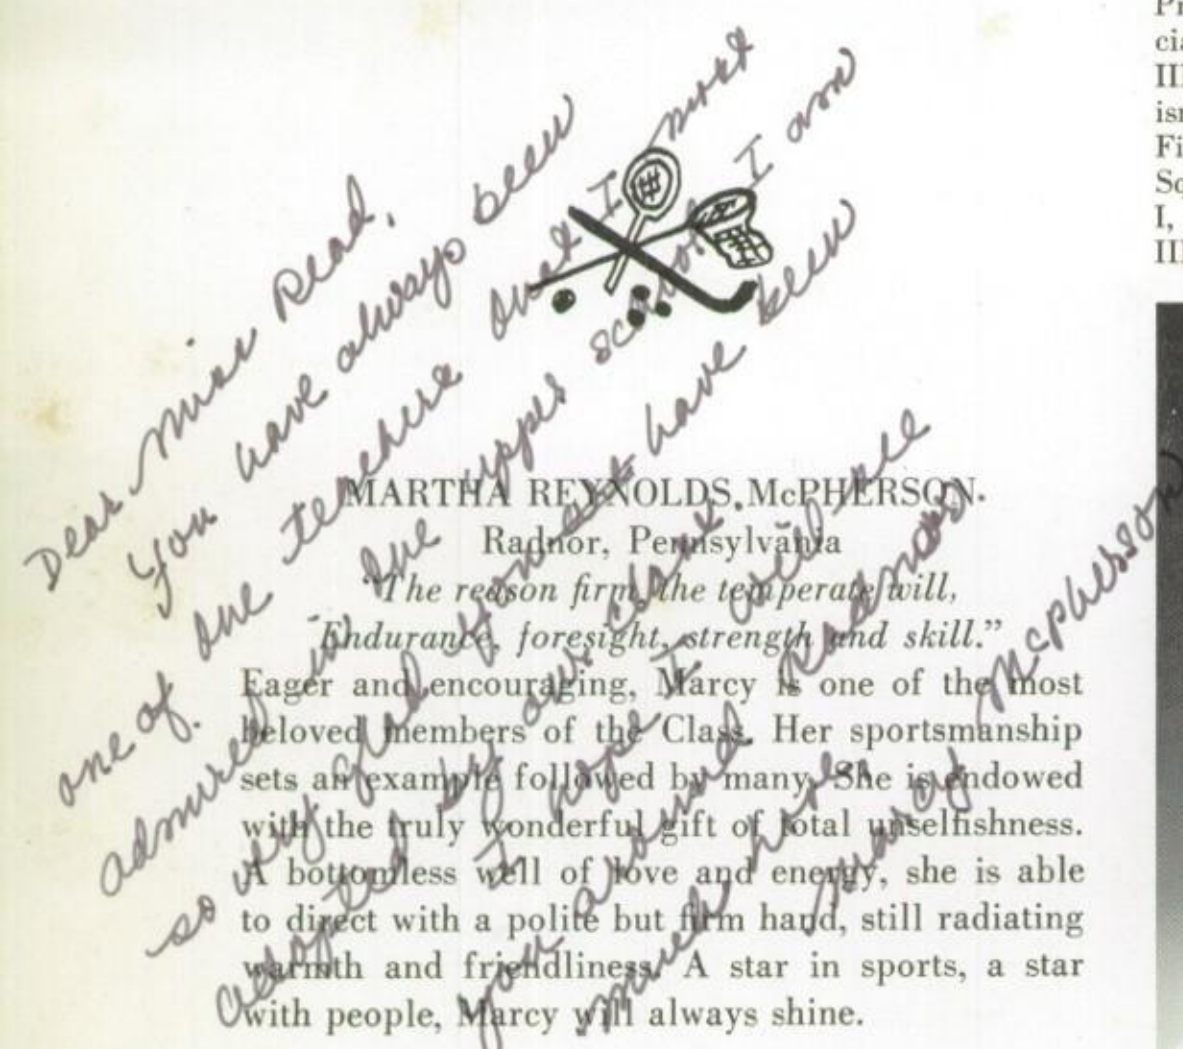

Boston, Massachusetts

Boston, Massachusetts

Sally's cheerful pranks and high-pitched cackle prove that exceptionally perfect behavior does not exclude an occasional bit of mischief. Her advice and counsel are prized, and she is respected for complete honesty. She has an inquisitive, searching mind and is always keenly interested in the other person. Sally displays the most admirable qualities: thoughtfulness, thoroughness, and a radiant spirit.

Entered: Class VIII; President V, IV, III, I; Vice-President II; Beacon Sports Editor II; Athletic Association II; Chorus III, II; Arts and Crafts Club III; Science Club V; Photography Club V; Journalism Club II; First Hockey Squad V, IV, III, II, I; First Basketball Squad V, IV, III, II, I; First Tennis Squad IV, III, II, I; First Lacrosse Squad V, III, II, I, First Team Captain IV; Grade A Vaulting V, IV, III, II, I; Blue Team, Captain II.

*"I know thou art full of love and honesty,
And weigh'st thy words before thou giv'st them breath."*

Susie is a vivacious spark of enthusiasm, and any attempt to impede her good-humored pranks is futile. She may have difficulty in making up her mind, but once a decision has been reached, she does not hesitate to say what she thinks. Not swayed by general opinion, she judges others on their true merits. Susie is sensitive, even emotional, and easily hurt when her trust in mankind is betrayed. Susie thinks first of others and last of herself.

WENDY BATCHELDER

Haverford, Pennsylvania

"Health and cheerfulness mutually beget each other."

Wendy is a bubbling bundle of inability and unpopularity complexes, and she is one of the best-loved girls in the Class. Her first position in the limelight was center stage on the baseball diamond. Her cheerful "Hi! How are you?" brings the gloomiest into a bright mood. Wendy is wholesome, always full of pep and new "idears"; she shows great enthusiasm and has a never-dying school spirit.

JOAN ELIZABETH BEYER

Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

"It was a rainbow gave thee birth and left thee all her lovely hues."

Joan is a shy, serene girl with a pleasant smile for all. In her way she is a dependable person, conscientious and sincere. Her quiet manner is often hidden in moments of enthusiasm. Joan is always there to hear a problem and give a welcome answer. A deeper analysis uncovers a beautiful voice and a love for music, the piano, and children.

Dear Miss Read,
I'm so glad that you received this year. We are all so appreciative of your help and instruction. You for so putting up with my illegible handwriting last year. I've decided to take a typing course this summer so there will be no questions at Bradford.
Thank you

"Zealous, yet modest; innocent, though free." Dedicated

Mimsy is seemingly quiet and reserved, but she can startle anyone with her quick wit and loud laughter. Beneath her rather naive exterior, she ensconces a brilliant, perceptive mind. Pessimistic about herself and optimistic about others, she likes people, finding them interesting, and loves her large family. Mimsy is a composite of sweetness and shyness, wit and elfishness.

"She moves a goddess and looks a queen."

A glass of champagne: sophisticated, exciting and expensive. Never condescending, Alix possesses sensitivity beneath her admirable poise. Momentarily quiet and moody, she is soon in peals of laughter. She is warm and emotional, but depends upon no one. Easily set off on tangents about food, art, music, and outer space, Alix is an individual, aware and romantic, with very high ideals. She is a great lady.

"Life is not so short but that there is always time enough for courtesy."

Charming, poised, and delightful, Barrie would make a perfect Southern belle. Friendliness personified, her neat appearance and sweet smile compose her special gift of making strangers feel at home. Dependable and sincere, Barrie is always there when needed. Her artistic interests are the center of future dreams. Kind and understanding, Barrie has a truly optimistic outlook on life.

PHOEBE LEE ESHLEMAN

Villanova, Pennsylvania

"It is exactly as if some untamed spirit were subdued by the very persistence of gentleness."

Lee, who is loyal, who has a striking smile, laughs at the most unexpected moments, but may quickly become quiet and thoughtful, generating the warmth which smooths over an uneasy situation. She can argue violently, yet understanding will bring her to a compromise. Generosity and tolerance give Lee the faculty of making her friends happier in her presence.

ANNE KNIGHT GALEY

Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

*"Life is real! Life is earnest!
And the grave is not its goal;
Dust thou art, to dust returnest,
Was not spoken of the soul."*

Nancy has shown that school is a great builder of personality as well as of academic achievements. A diplomat, complex and versatile, she loves rabid political debates. Her interests in music range from Beethoven to Condon. Her quickness of mind and inexhaustible energy produce original ideas. Independent, poised and level-headed, Nancy is a sincere friend whose wit makes her fun to laugh with.

HELEN LANSING GILLESPIE

Exeter, New Hampshire

*"And gentle in their manner, they do bold things

SUSAN FAY RAWLINGS

Marion, Ohio

"Music is the thing of the world I love the most."

Sensitive and perceptive to things around her, Susan appreciates and understands beauty as few do. Sentimental and emotional, she has an unusually strong feeling for music; Brahms' romantic themes characterize her thoughtful and reflective moods. She deserves the best in life and will bring happiness to others because of her great capacity for affection.

VIRGINIA VANDER HORST READ

Haverford, Pennsylvania

"Great thoughts, like great deeds, need no trumpet."

Short-cropped, naturally curly hair and eyes like those of a startled fawn are the first impressions of Vivi. Basically quiet, but with an uncontrollable, explosive laugh, she is fond of a good argument; in politics she is the convinced supporter of the Democrats. She combines scholastic ability with common sense. Her character is one of dependability, steadfastness, and insatiable curiosity.

NANCY CATHERINE RHEA

Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

"It represents all the emotions of a richly endowed personality in restless agitation."

When Nancy enters the room there follows an air of mystery. She is quiet and graceful, a romantic dreamer, remote and often deep in thought. She can shake the foundation of a solid argument or turn a game of tennis into an English tea party. She knows culture and has expensive tastes. Nancy has a complex personality and is warmly responsive.

DEBORAH LLOYD ROSSITER

Easton, Maryland

"Smooth runs the water where the brook is deep."

Debbie is considerate, poised, and mature. Dedicated to nursing, she proved herself to be Shipley's Florence Nightingale during the flu epidemic last fall. At School her personality is split: she is both merry and subdued. With all these qualities and a very subtle sense of humor, Debbie commands respect and attention wherever she is present.

Dear Miss Read,
Thank you so much

EVELYN MORRIS SCATTERGOOD

Villanova, Pennsylvania

"Nothing is so new as a new naturalness."

Evie is recognizable by her energy, comical sense of humor and natural, unpretentious mannerisms. A many-sided character, she possesses an infinite store of unselfish kindness. A loyal supporter of the rights of others, she has a sensitive mind that weighs arguments justly. When she is happy, she glows; a mischievous grin may swiftly give way to an embarrassed blush. Evie bubbles with love of life and a life of love.

Miss Read, Thank you for all of the patience and kindness, the many hours of extra work and sincere interest not only in myself but an interest in everyone and everything. It has been wonderful learning from you - Thank you,

KAREN MERRIAM SHARP Renny.

Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

"Strong in will

To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

Renny has a sense of fun that appreciates the humor of others, both young and old. She is endowed with exceptional common sense and the ability to create a relaxed atmosphere. Independent and self-assured, she is not easily deceived. With her interest in helping people, Renny has been one of the most devoted social workers of the Class and a backbone for all School charitable programs.

SUSAN BRINTON SHARPLES

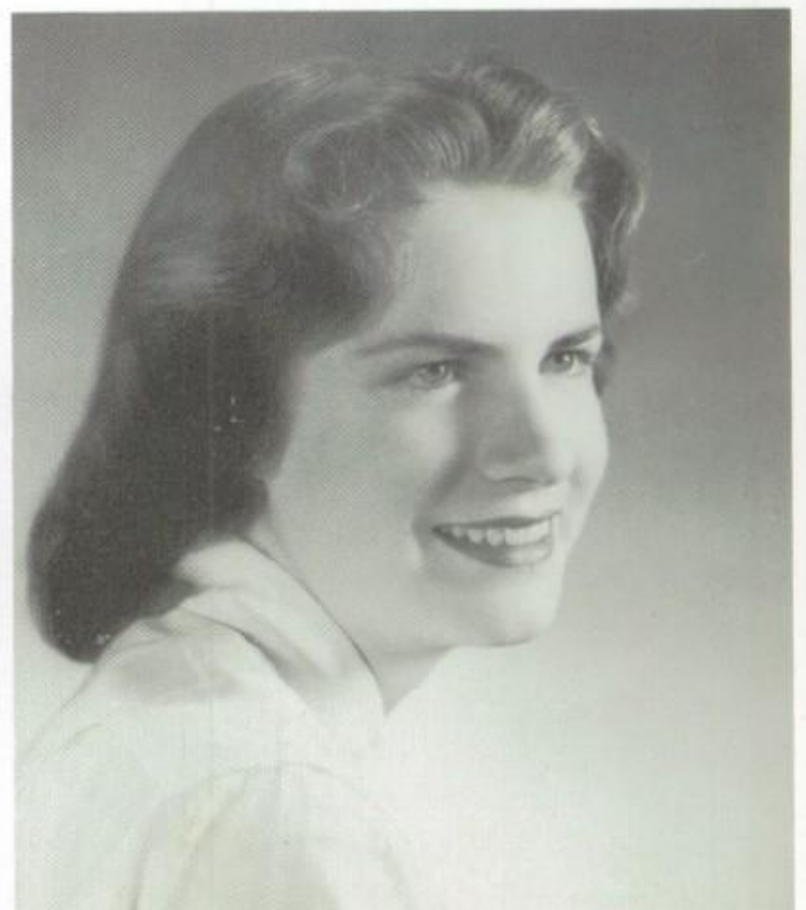

Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania

*"The fairest garden in her looks
And in her mind the wisest books."*

With the rare asset of being able both to make conversation and to listen to others, Susan is intelligent, mature and poised. Displaying many different moods, she is often heard giving understanding advice to others. Insatiably curious, she has varied interests, including an up-to-date knowledge of the latest best-sellers and smash hits. Susan is a sophisticated lady truly concerned for the happiness of those around her.

SHANNON STUART SPURDLE

Highlands, New Jersey

"The female of the species is more deadly than the male."

Generously endowed with the gift of gab, Shannon is friendly and open-hearted. She has great dexterity with figures, a skill which contrasts with her style-conscious, artistic flair. Constantly suppressing worries, she passes through life with a smile and a shrug of the shoulder; beneath her carefree air, however, is an independent and mature spirit concerned with the more serious aspects of life.

CONSTANCE BASSETT TEMPLETON

Hinsdale, Illinois

"The only way to have a friend is to be one."

Connie is a genuinely refreshing picture of health. Usually found smiling, she is quiet, dependable and even-tempered in spite of her red hair. Her achievements in sports are due not only to her athletic ability, but also to her boundless spirit. With many accomplishments to her credit, she must be admired for her modesty. Her gentle disposition and understanding manner enable her to make friends easily.

HELEN CLUCAS TOWNSEND

Wayne, Pennsylvania

"A simplicity is the most baffling of all human achievements, and the most perdurable."

Helen is the kind of person who never talks long without smiling, optimistically emphasizing the humorous side of a situation. Seldom flustered or angry, always a good listener, she is quick to forgive and forget and rarely complains or criticizes. Totally unselfconscious, she is very modest about her athletic achievements. Friendly and cheerful, Helen is a companion to all.

MARTHA VAN BEUREN

Morristown, New Jersey

"She possessed a peculiar talent of producing effect in whatever she said or did."

Behind her unmistakable laughter and unfailing good humor, Marty is a calm and level-headed girl. She is the creator of original ideas and the very essence of hilarity and unforgettable good times. An old standby of the boarding department, voicing honest opinions and standing her ground with determination, she is a most outgoing person, and a strong and upright friend.

EDITH VANDEVER WALKER

Haverford, Pennsylvania

"Gentlemen, the time of life is short."

Bonnie, our blonde bombshell, is constantly ready to have a good time, and is always around where there is laughter. She contributes greatly to the spontaneity of the Class. Carefree and impulsive, she is easy to make friends with and fun to talk to. Beneath the exterior of gaiety, however, there is a serious side to her. Bonnie is well aware of the complexity of life and understands people.

ANTONIA CHRISTINE WALLACE

Rosemont, Pennsylvania

"What a wondrous life is this I lead."

The little bit of vivacity that roars into Townsend is Toni. Her interest in people and her wit add to her fascinating conversations, and she always has an opinion on her extensive reading, ranging from Plato to Dennis the Menace. Fond of horses and objects with sentimental value, full of exuberance about everything she does, and easily excitable, she is alive and lets you know it.

Dear Miss Lead,

I'm very sorry to be leaving Shipley after four wonderful years of which I spent the first three in this room for history. I can't thank you and the rest of my teachers enough for all you've given me.

ELLEN SCHUYLER WATSON
Irvington-on-Hudson, New York

"Heaven never meant her for that passive thing that can be struck and hammered out to suit another's taste and fancy."

The first impression of Ellen is one of flashing eyes and a large smile. She has great seriousness of purpose and is a conscientious worker, regardless of the task. Unforgettable is her pleasant nature, her frankness, her interest in people, and the maturity and individualism that so often offer the best in constructive criticism. With a disciplined mind, she is a true perfectionist.

Thank you -

SONJA SOLVEIG WEILAND

Phoenixville, Pennsylvania

"With malice toward none; with charity for all."

Solveig takes an interest in everyone, and is always close by to lend a helping hand in any situation. Her problems, quietly concealed behind a smiling face, seldom reach the surface, and then they are quickly dispersed by her good humor and cheerfulness. She never ceases to make new friends, yet always stands by her old ones. She has deep sensitivity, love for her Norwegian ancestry and close family ties.

Dear Miss Read,

It has been really wonderful having you for the past two years. Thank you for all you have taught me and for being so kind during my long illness.

ELOISE WELD

Gloucester, Massachusetts

"Few things are impossible to diligence and skill."

Eloise is one of the most respected members of the Class and one who can be counted on for justice in her decisions. She has no difficulty in making up her mind and will voice her opinions with conviction. Her clever humor and talent for mimicry and witty remarks provoke peals of laughter. One is always aware of her presence; Eloise is a symbol of strength, reliability and leadership.

be so thankful that I was lucky enough to have you last year. Promise to try to drop in all the while when in Rockport during the summer. I'll miss the faculty. Love - Eloise

Last Will

WITNESSETH:

We the Senior Class of this year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred fifty-eight, being of complex mind and overweight body, but having cultivated a certain set of outlined values and therefore earnestly desiring to provide for those who will succeed us, do hereby bequeath to our heirs the following indescribable yet perhaps obtainable legacies:

We leave to the Faculty one year's supply of spare time, hardly used, to be devoted to that important extra, above and beyond the assigned.

We leave to the Class of 1959 our individualism, previously exhibited in dubious ways, to be put to better use in the future.

We leave to the Class of 1960 that small portion of our silence yet unbroken, in hopes that they may preserve it carefully.

Susie Bacon leaves with stripped gears . . . Wendy Batchelder leaves her "idears" to the English Department . . . Dougie Bettel refuses to leave her bike . . . Joan Beyer leaves in her Packard with a slow pick-up . . . Mimsy Bromley leaves her singed eyebrows to Miss Weston . . . Alix Brown leaves Madame Delaplace standing on the street corner . . . Lucky Chase leaves the South segregated . . . Sally Codrington leaves for the Dark Continent . . . Eileen Covick leaves her brief-case to anyone with the strength to carry it . . . Barrie Doerr leaves still on the Paoli Local . . . Lee Eshleman leaves her curls to "Charles Antell," "Bobbi," and "Toni" . . . Julia Fantacci leaves with a new vocabulary . . . Sylvia Foster leaves her unique math ability to the Math Department that did not appreciate it . . . Nancy Galey leaves a magnifying glass to Miss Woodworth who has been looking at the Democrats through rose-colored glasses . . . Hilly Gillespie leaves Exeter gloriously defeating Andover . . . Dottie Gulbenkian leaves by the root of Gamma, in hopes that Miss Ackler will have one less square . . . Katie Hammond leaves her laugh to the Gym Department . . . Ann Hart leaves her flightiness to Mrs. Burrowes, who has helped her to take a more sober approach to life . . . Jean Johnson leaves her art ability to Miss Ridpath . . . Pam Kauffman leaves casually . . . Susan Kelly leaves her Shetland sweaters to mop up her mess . . . Ann Kramer leaves still warshing . . . Chrissie Kuehn leaves her apples to Sunday night suppers . . .

and Testament

Marion Leas leaves for an uncaged future . . . Ann McCoy leaves the telephone free . . . Pat McIlvain leaves with her hockey sneakers on and her stick down . . . Marcy McPherson leaves nervously trying to complete the twill and westament . . . Pam Meeker leaves her mice to Mrs. Burrowes in hopes that they will multiply . . . Ruth Mikhalapov leaves her nearsightedness to anyone who thinks it is intellectual to wear glasses . . . Kathie Nicholson leaves to Miss Weston the time lost in Chemistry caring for crystals . . . Cissy Nobbe leaves still fighting the Civil War . . . Molly Ogelsby leaves over the back fence . . . Hilary Paley leaves her ability to avoid gym to anyone who has not been successful so far . . . Bonnie Pough leaves with a flash . . . Susan Rawlings leaves her records to Mary Blum . . . Vivi Read leaves her Democratic sympathies to Rachel to carry on the tradition . . . Nancy Rhea leaves her striped stockings to Miss Bacon for variety . . . Debbie Rossiter leaves the Princeton Triangle weekend to the Music Department . . . Evie Scattergood leaves asking "Who can give me a ride home?" . . . Renny Sharp leaves announcing "Someone's gotta give!" . . . Susan Sharples leaves to play a female role . . . Cindy Smith leaves Aeneas in a murky gloom . . . Gail Smith leaves the bathtub free at last . . . Shannon Spurdle leaves on a tiger hunt . . . Connie Templeton leaves her red hair to Lili . . . Helen Townsend leaves the dark blue hockey balls to be painted light blue by next year's A. A. president . . . Marty van Beuren leaves the Hill Yearbook for future reference . . . Sally Vance leaves for a life of vice . . . Ibbe van Lockhorst leaves her can of cat food to Miss Blackstone in hopes that something new may develop . . . If walls could talk Bonnie Walker would have left long before this . . . Toni Wallace leaves her toes to the pigeons . . . Ellen Watson leaves her eyebrows to Shiela Yang . . . Solveig Weiland leaves her "wonderful Weiland weiners" to the hungry boarders . . . Eloise Weld leaves her Boston accent to Casa Haskins . . . Nan Whitridge leaves her wagging tail behind her . . . Kit Wilberding leaves pulling the curtain.

We do hereby declare all prior documents null and void; in witness whereof we have hereunto set our hand and seal this seventeenth day of December, one thousand nine hundred fifty-seven.
